

FREELANCE SCIENCE COMMUNICATORS PANEL LUNCH

Life as a freelance science communicator

This event features professional insights from three Canberra freelancers, who will discuss taming the financial and lifestyle challenges of running a freelance business.

Malini Devadas – MD Writing & Editing

Dr Malini Devadas earned a PhD in neuroscience before leaving academia for the world of publishing. She now provides writing, editing and training services through her freelance business, MD Writing & Editing.

Sarah Kellett - writer and editor, CSIRO publishing

Writer Sarah Kellett has worked as a freelancer for ABC Science Online, COSMOS, and Australian Geographic, and is currently the Editor for CSIRO's children's science magazine Double Helix.

Stuart McMillen - cartoonist and comics artist

Freelance cartoonist Stuart McMillen, draws long-form comics inspired by social issues involving science, ecology, and economics.

This event features talks, panel discussion and Q&A over a networking lunch.

Thursday 25 June 2015. Panel 12:00-13:00. Lunch 13:00-14:00.

Venue: Two Before Ten Cafe, Aranda Shops, Aranda, ACT, 2614

This event is organised by Australian Science Communicators ACT Branch.

Entry is free, with attendees to pay for their own food and drinks. No RSVP needed.